CHIPS.

Beautiful rain showers.
Scott Anderson's posters of Gough are immense.

Bocholt & Cummings have $1,000 to loan on real estate security.

The attorneys for Hoyt are making another effort to save their client.

Don't forget John B. Gough's lecture at the Theatre on Friday evening.

The choral society has The Daughter of Jairus nearly ready for representation.

The rain soon turned the dust into glue yesterday, and made the sultry air quite chilly.

There were 146 passengers on the D. & R. G. express bound east yesterday morning.

The performances of the Home Dramatic Club are expected to take place in the near future.

Mexico will exhibit a garden of tropical plants, covering 220,000 square feet, at the New Orleans world's fair.

"And still they come." A girl experienced in the bookbinding work is wanted immediately for THE HERALD Bindery.

The Spencer House receives a very healthy proportion of the visitors to Salt Lake, being nicely situated and very carefully conducted.

There was a large crowd of excursionists went to the lake on Sunday, and they found the water the right temperature for bathing.

The choral society hold their special rehearsal on the stage of the theatre at 7.30 to-night. A full attendance of members only is desired.

Howe & Newcomb have taken a more excellent photograph of a bad subject; in other words the gentlemen have an excellent picture of Jo Cook.

In the recent western floods the report of one of Jo Cook's lectures was found after the water had subsided. It was perfectly dry.—Boston Post.

Mrs. Joshua Midgley reached an important anniversary of her birthday, yesterday evening, and some of her friends gave her a pleasant surprise. Everybody was happy. She has our congratulations.

Sunset Cox will have to write an extra chapter for his book, "Why We Laugh." The latest answer is: Because we have been to the San Francisco Opera House and seen
"A Bunch of Keys." Front!

Who was not grateful for that splendid rain of yesterday? Why every sprig of grass put on its Sunday-go-to-meeting green, washed its face, and smiled in gratitude as the refreshing drops came down.

The police court was oppressively dull yesterday, the entire business consisting of two male drunks and a female disturbance of the peace.
The latter was fined $15, but her attorney, Mr. Lomax, says he will appeal the case.

Herne, the old Salt Lake favorite, will no doubt receive a hearty welcome on his appearance next week at the theatre. He will give "Hearts of Oak," a great spectacular drama for which he carries a carload of scenery, and his specialty, Rip Van Winkle.

A large number of the last SUN-DAY HERALD, containing the description and dedicatory services of the Logan Temple, have been re-mailed by residents here to friends abroad. It is unquestionably a thing of extraordinary interest to those whose attention is in any way drawn towards Utah. A few copies are still remaining in this office.

Mr. D. K. Bramble, of Philadelphia, is in the city and expects to make this his home. He represents several large dry goods houses in New York and Chicago, whose trade he is extending to the far west. His sample rooms and headquarters will be in Salt Lake, but his territory extends from Denver to the Pacific.
Mr. Bramble comes highly recommended, and we commend him to local merchants.

And now the merry picnic days Have once again rolled around, When, to escape the sun's fierce rays, We seek the shaded ground, Where ants have a peculiar knack Of wandering from their bed And wandering up a fellow's back With slow and measured tread.

COUNCIL LAST NIGHT.

Petitions, The Elmer Case, and Water for Street Sprinkling.

After reading and approving the minutes of the last meeting, the Council proceeded to transact the following business:

Petition of Andrew Jensen for use of space on the sidewalk for building materials. Granted.

Notice of the Salt Lake City Gas company that their annual meeting will be held on Monday next, was read, and the Council asked the Mayor to attend in the city's interest.

Petition of J. W. Thompson for auctioneer's license. Granted.

The City Attorney reported on the suit of Ann Elmer, that a public road had run over the land of the said party, but that it is not the property of the public, and cannot be claimed as such. The site of the present road is not a desirable one, and has not been laid out by survey.
He asks instructions from the Council as to whether he shall defend the case and try to establish the City's claim to the land, or compromise it with Mrs. Elmer. If the City will waive its claim to the right of way, she will withdraw her claim to damages.

Councillor Clark moved that the Attorney be authorized to effect the compromise.

Councillor Spiers objected to the motion, saying that it looked weak to back down, if the city has any right to the land. If the city has no right to the land he would be willing to compromise. The attorney said that two things were necessary to constitute a public street or highway: the giving of the land, and the reception or acceptance of it by the city. It appeared that neither of these conditions had been complied with in this case. The city might still acquire this property for a road if it were desirable to do so, but he understood the city does not wish any road there.

Councillor Wells said that the committee on streets and alleys, had examined the subject and found that it would be more desirable to have the road differently located, and suggested that the city and county combine to make a road on the section line in continuation of Roper street, on the southern side of the city. He was in favor of the compromise of this matter. After a desultory discussion a vote was taken and Councilor Clark's motion carried.

The committee on irrigation reported that the report of the Water-master, etc., was found correct.
Adopted.

The committee on police, having examined the question as to police salaries, reported that they thought it expedient to continue the present salaries of $1,200, and if new police are added to the force that they be a second class at $950 per annum.
Adopted.

The committee on water works report in favor of the petition of citizens for having the streets, West Temple and Third South, sprinkled.

Councillor Wells thought it necessary to use discretion in tapping the main, and thought it better to have water for this purpose brought from the canal. He made an amendment to the report to that effect.

Councillor Spiers thought the streets should be sprinkled without waiting for water to be brought from the canal.

The amendment of Councillor Wells was lost, and the report of the committee adopted.

On motion of Councillor Clark the committee on water works was instructed to carry out the recommendation of the report.

This page is indebted to the genial Geo. A. Meears for interesting items of news.

Does he mean that they are partial to "Old Tom"? This refers to the gentleman in Market Row who has up a sign to the effect that he has "Ginney" fowls for sale. It is not generally known that the guinea fowl is given to intemperance.

Examination into the ore deposits of the Tuzagabunt mine, near St.
George, shows many thousands of tons of ore in sight, with the most flattering indications. General Pace, and his partners are contemplating the erection of a smelter at a point on the Clara river.

On Thursday night Pete Gillespie and a man named Riley had some words over a game of cards, and both drew revolvers, which were flashed in a threatening manner.
The guns were finally captured by outside parties, and serious trouble was thus averted.—Park Record.

Watermaster John R. Wilder is issuing time cards to the owners of city lots, showing on what days and hours they are entitled to irrigating water. Under the new ordinance there is no direct tax for the irrigation water, as heretofore. It is all "free grace" now, the city assuming complete control of all the water ditches.

Mr. Arthur C. Taylor, secretary to the Japanese Consul, San Francisco, was in town Saturday, and yesterday. He was making inquiries under direction of the Japanese Consul, into the surreptitious "taking off" of the Jap, at the hands of a quiet mob. It is not improbable that some legal action may yet be taken in this matter.—Pilot.

Sights on the Sawdust.

W. W. Cole's colossal shows which will exhibit here on Tuesday and Wednesday, June 10th and 11th, contains all the novelties known to the circus world. The menagerie and ring departments have been enlarged since last season, and now are the completelest ever given to the public. No show in the country can surpass Cole's in the extent and variety of its features, and certainly there is no manager who has so uniformly and unvaryingly satisfied his numerous patrons. It is impossible to enumerate all the special attractions of this mammoth show.
There are over sixty different acts to be seen in its three rings and on the elevated stage.
These acts embrace, besides the ordinary circus performances of riding, tumbling, leaping, etc., such new and astonishing features as a troupe of performing Arabs, with Turks, Moors, Egyptians and Spaniards also in the ring, a sacred white elephant, a white hippopotamus, aerial bicyclists, roller skaters, trick elephants, and Mlle. Almee, the human fly, who walks head downward upon a board suspended at a height of fifty feet. Trained animals and wild beasts are to be seen in profusion, and every kind of entertainment calculated to delight the human heart is to be found under Cole's monster canvass. The press is unanimous in declaring it the best circus and menagerie on the road.

The Advantage.

Mr. Blazer took his wife to see an exhibition of statuary, and the good lady was much interested. As they went home, she said to him, sweetly: "Darling, wouldn't you like it if I were a statue?"

"I hadn't thought of it, love."
"It would be so nice if I were, for then you could have me just the same for all the years to come, with no fading, no dimming of the eyes, no wrinkled brow, no peevish old age, no nothing but pure white marble, the same yesterday, to day, and forever."

"That would be nice, wouldn't it?
And you couldn't talk any more, could you, love?" he said, absently, with a last summer look in his soft blue eyes.—Merchant Traveler.

Sounds Like Old Times.

Mr. James Hulse, of the Twenty-first Ward, found on examining his premises on Monday morning, that one of his rabbits had disappeared coldly, and that another one had been mutilated. The little animals were securely enclosed in a well constructed enclosure made of pickets two inches by one, but some wild animal, in all probability a mountain grey wolf, tore off one of the pickets, and forced its way to its prey. The track of the animal is almost as large as a man's hand, and the marks of the teeth in the lumber show wonderful development and strength of jaw. The neighborhood is thickly populated, and it must be a daring beast which thus intrudes itself among the haunts of men. The people of that vicinity had better keep a sharp eye for him.

Dr. Fish.

A HERALD representative had the pleasure of meeting and holding converse for a short time with Dr. M.
W. Fish, of Oakland, Cal., at the Opera House yesterday evening.
The gentleman is Supreme Master Workman of the A. O. U. W., and accompanied by his family, is enroute to Toronto, Canada, to attend the international session of the grand lodges. He will remain here to-day and resume his journey tomorrow. He is very pleasant and affable in his demeanor, and is well posted on Pacific Coast affairs, having resided in this part of the world for several years, and been in Utah once before. We wish him a pleasant trip and safe return.

Biddlecome Jury.

The following jury was empanneled yesterday to try the case of People vs. Biddlecome, for murder: Silas T. Lake, Stanley H. Clawson, John Beers, Henry F. Burton, Robert Young, Samuel Deall, William Gedge, Isaac Hazelgrove, Geo.
A. Alder, John Hyson, Ephraim Hatch, Charles Moore.

Festival Postponed.

The ladies having in charge the preparations for the Congregational festival announced for Thursday evening of this week at the Synagogue, have decided to defer it until some time next week, probably Tuesday evening.

PLEASURE RESORTS.

Hints in Regard to One of Salt Lake's Needs.

On Sunday a HERALD reporter made a pilgrimage in the suburbs in search of a pleasure garden where he might sit down on a comfortable chair in a shady nook and take a glass of beer or a plate of ice cream. He fondly believed there was such an establishment somewhere in the vicinity of Salt Lake, but what was his disappointment when he had gone over all the likely localities and discovered nothing to fill the bill. Certain places he found which pretend to be something of the kind, but the pretence was not warranted by the facts. The grounds were unkempt, the trees shabby and unpruned the buildings tumble-down and rickety; the arbors furnished no seclusion from the peering glances of intruders, and what one could get at a big price was badly served, though of fair quality.

It was plain that the establishment is in poor hands, and that the proprietor has not the knowledge or habit to cater to a great public need of this kind. His own interest would prompt him to put his grounds in a comfortable and attractive condition, and to have his patrons served in an acceptable manner. The public would appreciate a summer garden that was conducted on first-class principles and would support it well; but to become a success, good taste, good management and tact are necessary. What more delightful or more natural for the denizens of a city in hot weather than to seek a shady nook, where the spray of fountains, or the plash and tumbling of running waters, the perfume of flowers and the songs of wild birds, impart a charm that carries the mind away for the moment from the world's cares, and vouchsafe a taste of elysium. The artisan, the man of business, the man of leisure, the thinking man and all the ladies would become patrons of such a place if their wants and tastes were studied, and their interest in it once established.
There are places which offer the natural advantages required for a first rate pleasure resort, and all that is wanting is the man to perfect such an establishment.

The Sparks.

Of this famous company the St.
Louis Globe-Democrat talks as follows:

"The fame of the Sparks company in A Bunch of Keys filled the Grand Opera House last evening.
A real, substantial New York success, and 100 nights' run, when the proofs of its genuineness goes abroad means business. There was no doubt about the Bunch of Keys attraction, nor was there any doubt that the company that made the success would appear here.
Hence the crowd. Every part of the house was packed, and the merriment of the performance got all around. The play is a satire on hotel keeping, and it may be styled a rare, rip roaring performance from beginning to end. There is no let up to the fun, and it is of a kind that can be enjoyed by all who know hotel life—even a little.

Of the cast are Lena Merville, Anna Guenther, Anna Breevor, Marrietta Nash, Ida Griffin, Harry Booker, Eugene Canfield and Mr.
Charles Bowser, and other interesting people.

In the course of the action there are several amusing disguises, and singing, and dancing, and merry-making of all sorts. All the business is quick and sharp, and the effects are acknowledged in sounds like those which follow lightning.
There are three acts of it, with accompaniments of cheers and laughter. There is no mistake about the entertainment of Bunch of Keys, and the performance is good physic for the blues as quinine is for chills.
Try it.

The Number Present.

LOGAN, CACHE CO., UTAH, 1884 There seems to be a fatality about getting a correct report of the number of visitors to Logan during the dedication on Saturday. It was put at 3,000 in the first dispatch, but appeared as 18,000; in attempting a correction, and in trying to state that 16,000 was "10,000 more" than were present, it was made to read "10,000 less" than present. There were not to exceed 6,000 or 7,000 visitors to Logan on the occasion in question.

President A. M. Cannon, of the Salt Lake state, was in a very gleeful mood last Saturday, the day on which the Temple was dedicated.
It happened that the fiftieth anniversary of his birth occurred that day, and he celebrated his jubilee at the same time that a great body of his fellow churchmen were celebrating an event of vast importance.
The congratulations he received were numerous and heart-felt.

Third District Court.

Proceedings in the Third District Court on Tuesday, May 20, 1884.
Chief Justice Hunter presiding:

Edward Prudence, of England, was admitted to citizenship.
People vs. Alex. S. Hill; embezzlement; new indictment; defendant arraigned and pleaded not guilty. His attorneys also put in a plea for acquittal of the charge, on the ground of the judgment of this Court, entered December 10, 1883, also on the ground of the verdict of not guilty entered in said Court on May 19, 1884.

People vs. Joseph Biddlecome; murder; trial in progress.

NEW INDICTMENT AGAINST HILL.

Alex. S. Hill, late of the county of Salt Lake and Territory of Utah, is accused by the Grand Jury of this Court, by this indictment, of the crime of embezzlement committed as follows: The said A. S. Hill, on the 7th day of March, A. D. 1883, at the county of Salt Lake, in said Territory of Utah, was the husband of one Lucy J. Hill, and the said Lucy J. Hill was then and there the wife of A. S. Hill; that the said Lucy J.
Hill was then and there the owner of a certain certificate of deposit theretofore issued and delivered to her by the Deseret National bank, a corporation, for the sum of $5,000, payable to the order of the said Lucy J. Hill, upon the return of the said certificate properly endorsed, and which said certificate was then and there a valuable security and property, and the property of the said Lucy J. Hill, and representing property and money of the said Lucy J. Hill, acquired and owned by her before her marriage with him, the said A. S. Hill, and then and there her separate property, and then and there of the value of $5,000 in lawful money of the United States of America; that then and there, and while the said Lucy J.
Hill was the owner of the said certificate of deposit and valuable security, he, the said A. S. Hill, became and was bailee of said certificate of deposit and valuable security of the value then and there of $5,000 in lawful money of the United States of America and the property of the said Lucy J. Hill then and there being, and was then and there entrusted, by the said Lucy J. Hill with the said certificate of deposit and valuable security as bailee aforesaid, and being so the bailee thereof, did then and there, fraudulently and feloniously convert the same to his own use, contrary to the form of the statutes of the said Territory in such case made and provided, and against the peace and dignity of the people aforesaid.
[Signed] JOHN TIERNAN, Foreman of the Grand Jury.

Bail was allowed in the sum of $5,000, in default of which he was committed for a new trial.

BEAUTIFUL BY CONTRAST.

Col. Richardson, who ran for speaker in the thirty-fourth Congress against Gen. Banks, was not a handsome man. When he first came to Washington, among the distinguished men to whom he was introduced was Mr. John C. Rives.
"Mr. Rives," said the colonel, "you are one of the finest men I have ever met whose humor has not belied; you have not been represented as worse looking than you are." Mr. Rives looked him over deliberately, and remarked, "You must come and see me. After my wife has once set eyes on you, she will never complain of my looks again." Subsequently Col. Richardson dined with Mr. Rives. Now, the colonel not only chews a mouthful of tobacco, but he has an aversion to everything in the shape of spittoons so long as Wilton and Brussels carpets can be found as substitutes.
The story goes that after the colonel had been talking and chewing for an hour after dinner, Mrs. Rives went up to her husband, threw her arms around his neck, and said:
"My dear, I always thought you were the ugliest man I ever saw, but now I think you are quite handsome."—Ben: Peasey Poore.
